SCUOLA DEI MAESTRI PELLETTIERI DI BOTTEGA VENETA

ENSURING THE FUTURE OF TRADITION

Bottega Veneta is committed to ensuring the future of its tradition. This is why the brand has established a permanent workshop where employees, new trainees, and students meet teachers and technicians who have over 100 years of experience in leatherworking. The school is in partnership with local institutions. Devoted to training the next generation of artisans, the school also brings people from disparate fields, diverse theoretical and historical backgrounds, together to share their knowledge and inspiring one-hour talks in cutting and processing tools, leatherworking, leather goods, pattern-making, textile and product design.

THE COLLABORATION WITH LUIK

Bottega Veneta together with LUIK launched the two-part program which commenced at the end of January 2015, continuing through to June 2015. The first part involved recording of research related to high-quality leather bag manufacturing, while the second part involved attending classes with traditional methods of knowledge transmission through interaction of students and experts.

THE STUDENTS' EXPERIENCE

FRANCESCA

"This opportunity to work with the school authorities was an excellent learning experience for me, not only from a design point of view."

NADIA

"I've graduated in natural sciences, studied biology and the beauty of nature and design."

FILIPPO

"Since I attended a visual art school, my main interests are craftsmanship and aesthetic creation."

CAMILO

"I carry a love inspiration from Fulvio Bonazzi, the way he builds the bags he designs has to have become Marca."

DUSA

"I search for an inspiration all around the world, my inspiration is in life, in breathing."

OUR HERITAGE

Bottega Veneta is devoted the spirit and passion of the brand's founders. The company was founded in 1911 by Domenico Tanzi and Giacomo Mazzoni. They knew very well what they wanted to achieve: to keep alive the heritage of craftsmanship, and focused on the most valuable aspects of the product itself, while always moving forward in terms of innovation. Our artisans create with care every single item, from the choice of materials to the final packaging, with the hands, eyes and heart, the best quality and the highest level of craftsmanship.
